Why Isn't My Child Crawling / Walking / Speaking Yet?

All babies develop and meet milestones at different rates. We tend to compare and put added pressure on both ourselves and the baby.

- 1 Between 18-24 months is a good time to seek out medical advice if your baby is not showing any signs of crawling, walking, or talking.
- 2 Early interventions and supports are key to helping them achieve these milestones or figure out why they are not. KixCare is here to help.
